

Job Title: Full Time Physiotherapist (Private Practice)

Role Summary: This is your opportunity to become part of a progressive, enthusiastic, health focused multidisciplinary team in a modern private practice setting based in the heart of Melbourne's inner north.

Working closely with General Practitioners, Exercise Physiologists and Podiatrists, we are looking for a passionate and professional Physiotherapist to become part of our Allied Health team on a full-time basis.

As the Physiotherapist in our team you will:

- Provide physiotherapy consultations to a variety of patients from broad demographics within our community
- Have access to a spacious, well equipped gym (AKA: The Strong Room)
- Work closely with exercise physiology and podiatry as you design individualised, targeted, return to sport and activity exercise plans
- Provide evidence based manual therapy and rehabilitation programs
- Treat a variety of musculoskeletal, sports and general health conditions
- Be actively involved with our team based ongoing education program
- Be responsible for promotion of physiotherapy to internal and external stakeholders
- Be mentored and assisted to grow as a physiotherapist via internal supervision programs and assistance with professional development

In order to be successful in this role you will possess:

- University level qualification as a physiotherapist (AHPRA accreditation)
- A current Working With Childrens Check
- A Police Check
- A trustworthy and enthusiastic attitude to health care

The position is full time and remuneration will be commensurate with experience. New graduate physiotherapists are encouraged to apply. Training and mentoring will be provided both initially and in an ongoing capacity. Future opportunities for career progression within the PridePlus Health group can be tailored to the applicant's preferences.

About the Company:

At PridePlus Health we have established a working environment we are proud to call home. This position will be based in our busy multidisciplinary private practice in Pascoe Vale. Here we work closely with General Practitioners while providing a premium allied health services. We see a varied demographic of patients, including the local sporting community, those with chronic health conditions, as well as individuals through the lifespan from children to the elderly.

Currently we are excited to be expanding our physiotherapy team. Our approach to care is centred on patient outcomes, evidence based practice, client centred care and preventative health. Our workplace is an enjoyable and professional environment which we look forward to welcoming the prospective physiotherapist to add too.
